His Legacy… Clyde was born in Wincle, Illinois on September 8, 1926. He was the youngest of 10 children born to Walter and Myrtle Queen. At an early age he developed a passion for horses and dogs. This would continue throughout the rest of his life. Bird dog field trials were first held on their family farm in about 1936. This was his first introduction to what would later become his profession. In 1947 Clyde made his first placement at a Trial in Indiana as an armature. It was also in 1947 that he married the love of his life Lillian Queen, a marriage that lasted 63 years. After moving to California in 1955 Clyde was involved with Field Trial and in 1964 turned professional and opened Queen Acre Kennel. As with any business the first years were hard. By 1967 he had established himself as a knowledgeable and respected trainer with his dogs winning major championship on the west coast and in Canada. Clyde won 25 Championships and 26 runners-up and he developed 14 champions. He also had two dogs that won championships on four different kinds of game birds. In 1997 Clyde was inducted into the Field Trial Hall of Fame in Grand Junction Tennessee, one of his most cherished achievements. Clyde was also a veteran who served in World War II in the Philippines. In 2011 he took part in the Honor Flight that sent Vet’s to Washington, DC to view the memorials and to thank them for their service.

His Family… Clyde was preceded in death by his wife Lillian and is survived by his son Ron and his wife Donna, his grandsons Jason and Patrick and Patrick’s wife Abby. Step-grandchildren Jerry Schmidt and Step-granddaughter Jennifer White and step-great-grandchildren
