Her Legacy...Patricia Brownfield (Warren) Lincoln, 96, the older of two daughters, was born June 14, 1912 in Seattle, Washington to Capt. And Mrs. James Brownfield. Her fondest memories were of the times she spent on the boats with her father. She was very proud of her Brownfield heritage and loved to talk of the family coming west in covered wagons. She had a rose bush in her yard that made that trip. Pat received her Master’s Degree from the University of Washington, and also graduated from Mills College. She was a Social Worker in various places, most recently Butte County. She also, in her younger days, taught English in Cuba while her husband was there on assignment. Up until 4 years ago she volunteered in government work that benefitted the elderly, such as HICAP and Social Security. During WWII, Pat was a Gray Lady and a poster girl for the USO, and her picture was published numerous times as their representative. She was a longtime member of the Oroville Methodist Church and delighted in the pastor’s visits when she was no longer able to attend services. She had many friends, all of whom loved her dearly and will miss her. Pat was a happy, fun loving and loyal friend.

Her Family...Pat was married to W. W. Warren from 1932 – 1937. She was married to her husband Jesse Lincoln in 1971 and he predeceased her in 2007. She is survived by her five step-sons, Edward, Richard, Norman, Gary and Roger Lincoln.
